Stefnee Nelson-Baez Photography

"Desire is the key to motivation, but it's determination and commitment to an unrelenting pursuit of your goal—a commitment to excellence—that enable you to attain the success you seek."

—Mario Andretti

Biography

Stefnee Nelson-Baez is a recently retired Master Sergeant of the United States Air Force, after 24 faithful years. She has been married for 22 years and has two children, one who is also attending the Alamo Colleges. Acquiring her photography degree has been a dream come true, which she could not have accomplished without the support of her family and friends.

Earning her degree was a feat between fulfilling her military duties, class requirements, and her function at home. With the determination and drive to stay on course, Stefnee plowed through her studies taking two or four classes at a time. With more knowledge under her belt, one of her photos was published in the Wingspread base paper. She also created an office newsletter, riddled with photographs, to practice more with the techniques she has learned.

Stefnee's photography education has improved her craft towards the start of her own photography business venture. After graduation, she will pursue a degree in radiology. Stefnee would like to thank all of her SAC professors for their valuable expertise, insight, patience, and support during her memorable journey.
