Certain employees may require communication devices, such as cellular phones, radios, and pagers to conduct College District business when away from their assigned work location.

General Provisions

1. Communication device assignments and/or allowances may be provided for those who meet any of the following criteria:
 - a. The employee is a critical decision maker who requires immediate access 24/7;
 - b. The position requires extensive travel (more than 25% of the time);
 - c. A device is required to meet safety standards;
 - d. Other compelling reasons to have immediate access to communication devices.
2. Communication device assignments and allowances must be based solely on a business need.
3. Determination of what type of device is necessary, and whether a communication device or allowance will be used is at the discretion of the supervisor and submitted with justification on the communication device/allowance request form. Devices may include radios, pagers, cell phones (allowance only) or any other communication devices.
4. Communication devices and allowances are the fiscal responsibility of the area budget manager.
5. All allowances are taxable income and therefore will be included on the employee's W-2 form as taxable compensation.

Approvals

In order for an employee to be assigned a communication device or allowance, approval must be obtained by the following:

1. Supervisors must verify each employee's eligibility prior to submitting a Communication Device Authorization Form or a Communication Allowance Authorization Form. The forms are available at the College District Information Technology Services website.
2. Communication device assignment/allowance requests shall be submitted to the respective college President or Vice Chancellor or designee for approval,

Termination of Communication Device Assignment or Allowance

Causes for termination of a communication device assignment or allowance may include but are not limited to:

1. Termination or cancellation of the associated service;
2. Determination by the employee's supervisor that the employee no longer has a business need for conducting business via the communication device;
3. The employee's extended absence (a full month or more) from College District duties, such as long-term disability or military service;
4. Misuse or unauthorized use of assigned communication devices by the employee or others; or
5. Termination of employment.

Communication device assignments and allowances end in the month that the reason for termination of the assignment or allowance occurs. The employee shall return all assigned communication devices to the College District within two business days after cancellation of the assignment.

If an employee terminates employment with the College District, whether voluntarily or involuntarily, the employee will have sole responsibility for fulfilling the terms of any contracts that have been established with service providers. The College District will give no further remuneration for these services.

Lost, Stolen, or Damaged Equipment

An employee receiving a communication allowance or who is assigned a College District communication device is responsible for the replacement of any lost, stolen or damaged equipment assigned to the employee or related to the allowance. Employees who are assigned College District communication devices are not allowed to transfer, reassign or allow unauthorized parties to use them.
