

Celeste Alana Brown

Celeste Alana Brown is a San Antonio native who is strongly committed to advocating for Black liberation, divesting from policing, and investing in our community. Celeste has been active in the movement for Black lives since 2014. She is passionate about amplifying the voices of local families that have lost loved ones to police violence and most recently, her work has hit close to home when it impacted her own family the day Darrell Zemault, Sr. was murdered by SAPD on September 15, 2020. In her free time, Celeste is a member of the Black Futures Collective and the Defund Police SA Coalition and by day she works in education policy and advocacy. Prior to working in education, Celeste worked for San Antonio City Council District 2, United States Congressman Lloyd Doggett (TX-35), and various political campaigns so her community organizing work is most often done through a policy lens.
